Partner

Jim Dougherty is a Partner in Bennett Thrasher's Technology Services practice. He provides outsourced technology consulting and managed services by streamlining internal operations and building networks. Jim works with a variety of businesses ranging from small private companies to publicly-traded companies. His industry experience includes entertainment, manufacturing and supply chain, not-for-profit, professional services and technology.

Prior to joining Bennett Thrasher, Jim was the Chief Operating Officer for Graves Technology Group, LLC. Jim joined Graves Technology in 2010 and focused on streamlining process and procedures for day-to-day activities. He got his start at an L.A. based IT service company providing technical support and project management.

Jim graduated from Loyola-Marymount University with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree, with an emphasis in Information Technology. He views IT as a tool for businesses to leverage and design network plans around not only their day-to-day operations, but also their goal for growth in the future.
